January Dinner Meeting

On Thursday, January 16th the snow didn't stop almost 70 members from a great night of networking at the LeMont on Mt. Washington.

Thank you to our guest speakers Jen Landau, Jeremy Bowlby and Chris Priest from Landau who offered a relaxed and open forum for our members to learn about the different aspects of their company and work.

Opportunity with Scholarship Partner

Rosedale Technical College is looking for women who are passionate about their work in the skilled trades and are willing to share their experiences, challenges, and successes with prospective students by serving as panelists for their upcoming Women In The Trade Days events April 9th and/or April 30th .

Panelists should be open to inspiring and empowering the next generation by offering advice and insights about what it's like to work in the trades. As a panelist, whether you're just starting out or you've been in the industry for years, your unique perspective can make a big impact.

Rosedale is especially interested in panelists who can speak authentically about their journey and who believe in promoting diversity and inclusion in the trades.

If you, or someone you work with is interested, please call our office for more information.
